Thursday night's benefit concert for a student radio station was "really successful," the Student Union Activities Board chairman said Monday.

Chairman Jim Rutter said proceeds exceeded $675 with about 200 people attending.

"It's a lot of money per se, but just a drop in the bucket for what we need," Rutter said.

Taylor Wilken, activities board Radio Committee chairman, estimates organizers must raise around $50,000 to fund equipment purchases and cover the first year's budget.

"I'm pretty sure they had a good time," Rutter said.

The committee will consider another concert although no specific plans have been made, he said.

"We're exploring the possibility of grants and other donations," Rutter said. "We ask the bands to donate their time, and that's a big donation on their part."

The four bands that performed Thursday (Three Ring Carcass, Tall Tales, Red Red Groove and the Coma Club) were "wonderful," but they would like to find other bands as well, Rutter said.

Students who could not attend the concert or others who would like to donate to the radio station fund should see stu-
